Dear Desmond

Listen, while I can quite understand in a way and with reluctance, your reluctance to be brutally honest with me back in 2000, you and Tony took it upon yourselves to play God in effect and leave it to chance.

Well, you rolled the dice and lost in this case.

I have a good memory too, and remember asking you at the Wellington several questions, which left me in know doubt, in my mind, that whatever it was, that you were not telling me, was not at that time, going to kill me and maybe, just a virus, as an explanation will do, until we know more. You told Tony who did not tell me, it was M.S... You should have told me, regardless. Sorry. You're the Doc.

I strongly suggest you do not do this again, to any other patient, because to be brutally honest with you, the psychological damage it could cause a lesser mortal, could result in total devastation, even suicide. It really knocked me for six. I had no information, that is cruel.

In my case, I would have thought twice about selling my country house, Beck Cottage, reduced my travelling and stress factor, (Stopped using the mobile phone so much, at any one time,) as the coincidence in this case to me, is overwhelmingly obvious, but I can't prove it !.
I know a short when I see one, I was the target, twice. Back then and now.

With the knowledge we all obtain throughout our lives, it is best, believe me, to pass it on. What you know however and keep to your profession is not in this day and age, always right and when the occasion presents itself, I implore you, part with it, regardless. There are many other factors you may not take into consideration, which later on, may come back to haunt you, regardless. Like Life insurance policies, health insurance ect ect. So, in this case and time you owe me one, I think.

Talking of which, my Mother in Law is returning to England with all the results from all the blood Stats, M.R.I'S ect, taken here in California. You have the other M.R.I'S and blood stats, because you refused to give them too me, I remember. You never posted them to Beck, that's for sure, so don't even go there.

Please, for me, check them against the ones Sally has and we can then move forward, depending on what you find. I am about 80 to 90% recovered now, energy level varies day to day. Knowledge is all important in this case, before another expert makes the wrong diagnosis and then I could be in trouble in a foreign land. Look at the M.R.I.'S and blood Stat's please. I await your professional opinion. Thank you.

Sincerely
